FROM the SIDELINES

By TAD TARG

MY PREDICTION

Early in the season I predicted Prague's final goal score at 137 to 17.

Of course, when I worked that out I didn't allow for injuries, "off days", loss of form etc.

Nor did I allow for draws or losses, which Prague ran into in the last five weeks.

Even so I wasn't that far off.

The actual score is — 109 to 44.

CREDIT TO NORTHS

As for my other forecast — that North Side would be one of the six leading teams in the competition — it proved to be a right one, too.

In the course of 13 weeks they lifted themselves from near the bottom to equal sixth on the final competition table.

What's more — they played a beautiful brand of football to achieve it.

In their last match of the season, Norths downed Prague in a manner similar to the way the champions are accustomed to hand out defeats to other teams.

In the whole game one hardly saw a wild kick by either side.

The more credit to North Side for winning.

IMPORTANT CHANGE

Admittedly, Prague were without some of their stars but, this, I think, is beside the point.

And the point is this:

Early this season Prague gave the lead in new style of play, teamwork, ball control and positional play.

Since then other teams started to follow the lead, trying to change their style and tactics.

By doing so they sacrificed some of their customary speed ("open up the gate!") for ball control and "carpet passing".

Some teams, like North Side, already have achieved some standard; others will pick the fruits of their work in following seasons.

Thus, the "kick and rush" "system" has gone.

Schoolboys learning their football right now will never know such a thing ever existed.

And when they're ready to come forward and take the place of our present idols — they will thrill us with their clever footwork and soccer sense.

We're looking forward to that time.

And particularly to the time when our "home grown product" can be proudly "exhibited" to the world.

"PROFESSOR" AND THE BOOTS

I've been told that the Baumgartner leightweight boot is a compromise between seven best continental designs and adapted for Australian climatic and ground conditions.

Of course, you'll have to get a pair of handy legs with the boots or, better still, get the "professor" — as Leo is popularly called — to show you how to use them.

But, the right equipment is always half the battle.

Or so they tell me.

TO THE HOUSEWIFE

And, in conclusion, some advice for the housewives:

Buy your fruits and vegetables before Sunday!

There's rumor around that all greengrocers in Sydney, Wollongong and Newcastle area, will be closed on that day.

Why?

APIA plays Prague this Sunday...

BURGOYNE and a Sydney Austral defender fly high for the ball, while Hakoah's new Austrian star, Wesely (centre), is on the alert, in the game Hakoah won on September 5.

DOUBLE HEADERS POINT THE WAY

The success of "double-headers" in the Ampol and Ascot promotions should lend support to those who believe that a season's competition conducted on similar lines would be the answer to soccer's problem of grounds and mode of competition.

It would most certainly increase attendances.

If say a 12-team competition was agreed to, one double-header could be played on Saturday and two on Sunday or vice versa, depending upon teams participating.

Comparisons

Take, for instance, one round of competition games this season and compare the programme as at present and as double-headers.

This season:

Bankstown v APIA (1500); Budapest v Canterbury (1000); Granville v Corrimal (1000); North Side v Hakoah (1200); Prague v Auburn (1500); Sydney Austral v Gladesville (800).

Now consider the same programme as double-headers with estimated attendances:

Bankstown v APIA and Budapest v Canterbury, Saturday (5000).

Granville v Corrimal and North Side v Hakoah, Sunday (4000).

Prague v Auburn and Sydney Austral v Gladesville Ryde, Sunday (5000).

Conservative

We believe that the attendances quoted above would be conservative.

Never-the-less they would still be double the figures actually recorded, when the "sample" round was played on May 2.

From a financial point of view the average income to home clubs at present would be £175, whereas under the latter system each home club would average at least £350 — that is if present admission prices were retained.

However we believe fans would pay more for double-headers.

Home clubs only would participate in the gates, while a certain percentage of all competition matches could be set aside to divide between the first four clubs.

This would encourage all clubs to strive for a good position, and, at the same time, assure the top clubs of due recognition and reward for the position they hold in the competition.

As the lower clubs would share in greatly increased gates because of the presence of the top teams they could not complain if a certain percentage of gates was allocated for the more glamorous performers.

If, say, five per cent of all gates were pooled and a 12-team competition was in operation, then, on the figures quoted, a total of at least £2600 could be amassed.

This could then be divided between the top four on the basis of £1000, £750, £500 and £350 respectively.

Northern League

West Wallsend and Awaba meet again on Saturday to decide the right to play against Wallsend in the final of the Northern League premiership.

West Wallsend and Awaba staged a thrilling 3—3 draw last Sunday in a match which Awaba should have won.

Awaba had a comfortable 3—1 lead late in the second half.

During the game, Westy were awarded two penalty kicks, both strongly disputed by the Awaba players.

From the spot kicks, centre half Dougie Cooper scored effortlessly.

The replay will be at Adamstown Sports Ground and a good crowd should be attracted to see these well matched sides.

In previous matches this season, each has claimed a victory in league matches.

Awaba had an easy 5—1 win in the Daniels Cup.

Top halves

Awaba's wing halves Eddie Charlton and Les Sharp have been the architects of many of their team's victories, and it will be interesting to see what methods are adopted to deal with West Wallsend's quicksilver inside forwards Jack Foster and Charlie Atkinson.

Centre half Ray Field, who recently took over this position from Ron Boslem, played a terrific game against Westy in last week's semi-final, and centre forward Tom Coates was unable to add to his high goal tally.

Rugged full backs Bill Hale and Ray Atkinson, both determined tacklers, may prove too slow for speedy wingers Don Newton and Warren Green, and most of the danger could come from this quarter.

West Wallsend's backline of Arthur Wilson and skipper Keith Grant is more mobile than its opponents.

Grant, an attractive player, stars in any position.

Wing halves Noel Maddison and Tony Underwood differ greatly in individual styles.

Maddison is a cool and clever footballer.

Underwood is a player who tackles solidly, and is constantly on the move from start to finish.

Inspiration

He is an ideal clubman and inspires his team mates with his non-stop methods.

Centre half Doug Cooper, a former utility member of the side, until the advent of "stopper" centre half methods, has made a complete success of this role and is the backbone of a good defence.

West Wallsend should win this match, if centre forward Tom Coates can evade the clutches of Ray Field.

With his powerful driving, he could prove the matchwinner, especially if inside partners Atkinson and Foster feed their wingers with those long, searching passes down the touchline.

PROBABLE TEAMS

West Wallsend: R. Martin; A. Wilson, K. Grant; N. Maddison, R. Cooper, A. Underwood; W. Green, J. Foster; T. Coates; C. Atkinson, D. Newtown.

Awaba: V. Gleeson; W. Hale, R. Atkinson; E. Cherlton, R. Field, L. Sharp; H. Winterbine, H. Goodsir; I. Allomes; D. Field, W. Field.

Semi-final

Wallsend 3 (W. Collins 2, W. Paddocks) — Adamstown 2 (C. Newton, C. Nicholls pen.);

West Wallsend 3 (R. Cooper 2 pens., D. Newton) — Awaba 3 (D. Field, H. Goodsir, R. Boslem).

RESERVE GRADE

Adamstown 4 (L. Taylor 2, G. Bartley, K. Talbot) — Cessnock 0;

Wallsend 3 (E. Baldwin 2, R. Hughs) — Merewether 2 (D. Green, R. Baldwin).

TESTIMONIAL

At Charlestown Sports Ground on Sunday, a testimonial match will be held for former player Johnny "Jumbo" Allanson.

A Charlestown Eleven including old favorites like Johnny Flick, Ivor Allomes, Clyde Allanson, Errol Griffiths will play against touring Victorian team Yallourn.

A large crowd is expected at this match to show its regard for one of beat club men Charlestown has ever had.

GOOD STRAT TO ASCOT SERIES

The Ascot Thousand competition opened last Wednesday night with two very good matches at the Sydney Sports Ground.

In the early game Budapest caused an upset by defeating Corrimal 2—1.

In the later match Prague beat Granville 9—3.

About 4000 people watched the opening matches and enjoyed a high standard of soccer served up by the competing teams.

A pleasing feature was Prague's return to form.

They thrilled the spectators with clever movements and skilful ball control.

This weekend's games preview

HAKOAH v CORRIMAL

Bob Young's ill-timed injury last Saturday is a serious blow to Corrimal's chances in this match as I feel that this player, more then any other, is vital to his team if it is to function smoothly.

Corrimal's veteran has been outstanding this season and has received good support from the other defenders, especially, his team-mates from the half-line, Phil Peters, a tireless worker, and Bill Williams an efficient stopper.

Though the stalwart of this peerless half-line will be missing, I am confident that the South Coast's back and half line will again play no small part in the team's prospects of a win.

The visitors' forward line can be redoutable though it has rarely shone since the end of the first round.

Keith Learmonth is still a formidable battler and still rates as one of this country's best local-born centre forwards.

But he is getting far less support than in the past, when this forward line swept all in front of it through sheer determination and speed.

Much of the speed has gone out of the Corrimal team these days and it has to rely more on Learmonth's foraging qualities and Stewart's experience.

Corrimal's main hope of a win lies in the team's ability to bustle their more scientific opponents and I feel that if the team can get a quick goal and rattle Hakoah they stand a good chance of taking the game.

They still retain that stamina and quite unique fighting spirit which has characterised all the great Corrimal teams of the past.

Hakoah on the other hand definitely do not possess Corrimal's reliability or courage, but it is undeniable that the Sydney siders are better equipped technically.

Their rivals on Saturday have nothing to match Wesely's feints. Jock Aird's constructive play nor some of the carpet-passing attacking moves the team can display when in form.

I think that last week's big loss to Gladesville can be discounted as there was no incentive in it for the Blues.

This weekend it will be a different story and, as Hakoah has a good record of past performances against Corrimal United, I would not be surprised if Saturday's big match saw HA KOAH record another win against their rivals.

Hakoah has more talent as far as ball control, finesse and actual style of play is concerned and on paper appear to have the edge on their more experienced opponents.

But Corrimal are keen to make their critics eat their words, as they feel that the club is still worthy of a place in the NSW soccer elite.

One can be certain that this first semi-final will be an open, fast and exciting one, with little in it and possibly a low score, as both defences are definitely stronger than the forwards.

Hakoah's attack has a little more variety, which could win the match and gain a place in the final for the Sydney team.

PRAGUE v A.P.I.A.

This is probably the most eagerly awaited club game in the history of the code in NSW and so it should be, as this semi-final should develop into one of the best games ever seen in club football.

APIA were the first team to burst the myth of Prague's invincibility and though brilliant Walter Tamandl was out, Prague were definitely not the best side on the day.

The Leichhardt team thoroughly deserved its fine win.

Last week's thrashing given Prague by NSU cannot be taken seriously as five key players were on the sidelines and it will be a totally different team that takes the field this Sunday.

Prague are regarded as the best club team ever in Australia soccer and have fully justified this star rating in spite of their past two consecutive losses.

I do not think that Prague's midweek match against Granville will affect their chances at all for the semi-final clash as they can take it in their stride.

Much will depend on Baumgartner's fitness, as without his scheming and active participation the forwards are just not cohesive in spite of the presence of other brilliant players.

This has been clearly demonstrated every time the captain-coach was unavailable unfit on the field.

It has all the ingredients of a classic — top-flight players delightful style of play from both teams, a "needle" match for State supremacy and a bumper crowd.

Perfect "weapon"

In Joe Marston, APIA has a near perfect "weapon" to keep the elusive Austrians in check.

He did it splendidly a fortnight ago and it will be interesting to see if Baumgartner has devised any counterplan.

We have said time and again in these columns that APIA's forward line has room for improvement and this is still evident, even with the inclusion of Bottalico.

This player has one of the most powerful kicks seen in Sydney, but cannot be expected to show all he can do this season.

He should be a valuable asset next year and his club can face the future with confidence.

This match should be a battle royal between Marston's defence and Baumgartner's attack.

APIA will be feeling very confident following their win, but I think that Prague, stung by recent heavy criticism and last week's shattering defeat, can turn the tables and qualify for the grand final, where they should, in my opinion, meet the same opponents.

Once again the atmosphere surrounding the ground will be tremendous and the colorful scenes in the packed terraces should help make this exciting game a memorable one.

ASCOT THOUSAND

HAKOAH v BALGOWNIE

This Wednesday night should see Hakoah enter the quarter-finals as it is hard to visualise them being tossed by the South Coasters.

Balgownie won the first round match 6—3, but it must not be overlooked that Hakoah at that time was a vastly different proposition and on Wednesday night will have the benefit of two Austrian importations, Hrncir and Wesely.

These two players, I am sure, will play no small part in their new team's future.

Hakoah has always been known for their great defence, spearded by the ever-youthful Bill Walsh and especially former Scottish World Cup star, Jock Aird.

Now they have a welcome addition to their already efficient rear-guard with the much improved Herman Strahm, whose rapid rise to prominence must go down as coach's Azzopardi's greatest achievement this season.

I feel that the halves, Aranyi and Outram, could be improved.

New Zealander Ron Kearns is a born half and not an inside-man in and if the club could secure a top inside forward, then Kearns could move to the half position and Hakoah would be a very strong team, indeed.

Bobby Burgoyne has never fulfilled the promise one had come to expect with the reputation wich preceded him from the North early in the season.

Tiny Alan Levinson's timely comeback is one of the success stories of the season and Frank Hearn's "fade-out" is undoubtedly one of the highlights of Hakoah's generally satisfactory season.

Balgownie had some good results in this their first Federation year and it might be significate that the team's best match was played against Hakoah.

This win was followed overnight by another big one over the then-mighty Sydney Auswhich wins would have pepped tral.

One had hoped that these up the side, but unfortunately Balgownie never rose to great heights after these two games.

The club is hoping that Wednesday will see the Villagers score their second win of the season over Hakoah.

I feel that the club's recent patchy form cannot allow too much optimism, especially now that Hakoah is strengthened and less inconsistent.

It will be interesting to see how Balgownie's two key players, Garipoli and Grant, face up to this new Hakoah attack.

The latter will have his hands full with Hrncir, and Billington will have a busy time in goal.

Strong teams clash

APIA v NORTH SIDE

There can be no question about it — this will be the most interesting match of the first round of the Ascot Thousand and probably one of the season's best.

I consider these teams the strongest in the competition at this stage.

APIA needs no introduction, being Prague's first victor and Sydney's greatest draw-card.

As for NSU, they are the "form" team of the moment and the only other team to have defeated Prague.

This match between the minor premier's conquerors will be well worth watching.

North Side's dramatic rise to the top is the success story of the year.

The signing up of former EPT stars was a progressive move, but is not the only reason for the club's great string of wins.

Coach Roman Kohlmayer is the man responsible for North's stirring second round displays.

His tactical moves are sound and he has shown that he can perform personally on the field what he preaches.

I am sure that this excellent coach has worked out a plan smother the brilliant Vasvary.

If he socceeds as well with the wily Hungarian as he did when he completely overshadowed Saghi 10 days ago, then APIA will be facing a near-impossible task, though their coach, Polgar, also is one of the best in the game today.

Johnny Wong the cleverest player in Sydney soccer today.

His shooting coolness and neat footwork should delight

Ampol Cup fixtures, Federation Cup matches and the competition semi-finals, final and grand-final are not taken into account.

Player of the Week

J. WONG

(NORTH SIDE UNITED)

J. Wong gave one of the most outstanding displays of the year when he spearheaded his cohesive team to a decisive win over the minor premiers last weekend.

This gifted Malayan star has proved himself one of the very best players in this country and has played no small part in North Side's "fairy tale" rise to prominence.

Had Johnny Wong not slumped, owing to exams, he would undoubtedly have won this year's "Best and Fairest" contest.

His cleverness and deft footwork have been one of the features of this year's premiership matches and next year should see this brilliant forward reach still greater heights.

Watch in coming editions for our 1959 "Honors List", when we will publish the full "Best Players" table for the season and other interesting features on this season's outstanding achievements.

AROUND THE JUNIORS

Semi-finals and finals of the Sydney Associations' floodlit carnival will be played at Lidcombe Oval on Thursday night, September 24.

The first night, at Lidcombe last Friday night, was a tremendous success.

Play in all matches was very fast.

Amongst the star teams of the night was St. George's Under 14 side.

This team was only defeated by the odd goal by Victoria's State Under 14 side in Melbourne recently and rather unluckily at that.

Results last Friday were:

Canterbury—Granville 1:0; St. George—Bankstown 0:2 corners; St. George—Bankstown 0:1; Northern Suburbs—Canterbury 0:1; Gladesville—St. George 0:3; Granville—Canterbury 1:0; Bankstown—Kuring-gai 6 bhds:0; Canterbury—Northern Suburbs 3:0; Bankstown—Gladesville 0:2; Canterbury—Granville 2 corners :0.

Games for this Friday are:

Gladesville—Northern Suburbs; Kuring-gai—Southern Districts; Southern Districts—Granville; Gladesville—Kuring-gai

Winner Gladesv. v N. Subs. v Kuring-gai.

Winner Bankstown v Canterbury v Sth. Districts.

Southern Districts—Northern Suburbs; Kuring-gai—St. George; Canterbury—Bankstown; Canterbury—Gladesville.

On Thursday, September 24, the big night will get under way with a most popular event — the Under 10 final.

ROBERTSON CUP

Last Sydney games in the Robertson Cup will be played at MacArthur Park this Sunday.

The Cardiff team for the main game against Granville All Stars includes a number of well known northern players.

They are W. Bargawana, N. Iceton, T. Cooper and K. Knight.

The 1957 winners, Hurlstone Park, will meet the strong Gladesville side at 1.15 pm.

All Stars climinated Epping Sports 4—3, after playing extra time in a tie played at Lidcombe Oval recently.

SECRETARY ILL

State Junior and Canterbury Association secretary, Mr Bill Brackenbury, is at present ill in Royal Prince Alfred hospital.

His many friends will be glad to know that latest advice is tat he is making very good progress.

GRANVILLE ENDS

The Granville Junior Season ended last Sunday, when the All Stars A team played All Stars B for the Cotter Cup.

The game had been deferred as seven players from the club were appearing for NSW juniors against Queensland's Merton Rovers in the Under 21 grade, on the date fixed for the final.

All Stars B defeated All Stars A 2—1.

The "curtain-raiser" was a challenge game between the Granville Referees' Association and Granville Association officials.

To ensure a certain amount of fairness in the interpretation of rules, Miss Dot Cage was invited to officiate.

This she did with firmness, allowing no nonsense when an incident between Referees' secretary, Harry Berle, and Granville treasurer, Charlie Kerslake, began to be resolved under Queenberry rules instead of FA.

Both received their marching orders to the loud acclaim of the crowd.

With great straining of breath and popping and cracking of muscles and joints, the Officials drew up level with the Referees, just before full time.

Scorers in the 3-all draw for the Referees were George Callender, Gordon McKenzie, Dave Garland and for the Officials Ken Wilson, Jack Sedgwick, and Alan Forbes.

Victorian Round-up

By L. K. STONE

Wilhelmina, thanks to a strong finish, managed to beat newly-promoted Melbourne 3—2, after being down 2—1 at half time, in the Dockerty Cup quarter finals.

Conditions at Olympic Park were perfect, which suited the style of play of both teams.

Melbourne need only strengthen one or two position to give a good account of themselves in State League next season.

Wilhelmina's best were Westervelt, Noy and Verken.

Best for Melbourne were Williamson, the former Brighton goalie, and Bors.

Vass and Szalier had a strong first half, but faded later.

Slight edge

Hakoah had a slight edge over a determined Box Hill and just about deserved their narrow 1—0 victory at the Hillmen's home ground, Wembley Park.

The only goal of the match came in the first half.

Meier was the scorer, after good work by Blakely.

Ex-Sheffield Wednesday player Terry Hartley was the best man on the ground.

The Cup-tie between JUST and Juventus was a real crowd-pleaser, with the score 1—all after 90 minutes.

Tamblin, Juventus, and Colla, JUST, were the scorers.

An extra 30 minutes failed to produce any more goals and the game will be replayed, probably next Saturday, but no decision had been made at the time of writing this report.

Copy book

George Cross played copybook football to beat Moreland 3—0 and fully deserved their entry into the Cup semi-finals.

Moreland never gave up trying, and their goalkeeper, Hobson, in particular, played a grand game.

The Maltese ex-centre forward, Zammit, was in great form, scoring once and hitting the post several times with powerful drives.

Other George Cross scorers were T. Vella and Copeland.

This week — State League: Footscray v JUST, Moreland v Hakoah, Polonia v George Cross, Juventus v Wilhelmina, Box Hill v Geelong.

the crowd as he has the stamp of greatness about him.

Tony Varglien "understands" his more constructive inside man to perfection and these two could spread "terror" in APIA ranks.

APIA won twice against NSU this season, but I feel that the Northsiders could turn the tables in spite of their opponent's brilliant recent form.

NSU's defence is solid and efficient, but the forwards are the team's greatest asset.

Their style of play is definitely "continental".

The whole team has tons of courage and tremendous fighting spirit, which might not be the case with APIA if they really are in trouble.

'HARD NUT'

I am sure that most fans will feel, as I do, that tonight's game is worthy of a final and will share my regrets that one club will have to drop out after this round.

Had North Side met any other team I would have had no hesitation to tip them to win, and win handsomely, but APIA is a terribly hard nut to crack.

Though North Side is playing such fabulous football they could be beaten by the balanced and smooth-running APIA XI.

Led by Marston in the backs and possibly Vasvary, if he can evade Kohlmayer's tactics, I give APIA a very slender edge on North Side.

But there will be so little in it that a reverse decision would be no surprise to me.

I feel that Northside are a team with great potential and should play a leading part in the 1960 season.

Concordia and Concord will hold their inaugural ball shortly.

It is expected that this will be one of the social highlights of the soccer season.

The Advantage Rule and Rough Play

Law 5 gives the referee the right to apply the advantage rule each time that the punishment of a fault would favor the defaulting team.

The application of this rule is not considered absolutely obligatory, because in certain highly characteristic cases of rough play, it would tend, it is believed to provoke a repetition of the unpunished faults.

However the applications of the advantage rule requires great experience on the part of the referee and a swift summing up of the results of its application.

By NICOS SAVARY
Secretary of the Greek Referees Association

The instructor-referees should draw up and define a uniform application of the said rule.

Any referee not applying the advantage rule might easily justify his decision on the grounds that he is punishing the team's rough play instatly the fault is committed, to avoid repetition of the player's brutal behavior.

However, the punishment of rough play could take place even with the application of the advantage rule, the referee warning or expelling the player at fault after the decisive result of the advantage.

There exists, therefore, a mistaken interpretation of the spirit of advantage, which is due to the lack of universal uniform teaching.

Every time the referee applies the advantage rule after a brutal or violent charge, he should take the same disciplinary measures against the player at fault (warning or expulsion) as soon as that phase of the game ends, in spite of the lack of technical punishment.

A decision of the FIFA — November 17, 1934 — specifies that the referee who has decided to apply the advantage rule cannot go back on his decision, even if the advantage accorded does not materialise.

This decision is a little vague as regards the application "a posteriori" of disciplinary measures and one can by no means pretend that it foresees all cases of application of the advantage.

In fact, in the case of the penalty kick the advantage rule applied for a fault of the goalkeeper is r e v o k e d if the ball crosses the goal line outside the net, which is contrary to the decision stated above.

On other hand, the application of the advantage rule is i r r e v o c a b l e when, for example, an attacker receives a brutal charge, regains his balance, controls the ball again and shoots outside the net.

Now everything hangs on the referee's intelligence in promptly judging the effect of the advantage rule, but also on his duty to punish the rough player immediately the result of the advantage has been obtained; this is something never, or hardly ever, put into practice.

Before the taking of a direct free kick granted to the attacking team outside the penalty area, the referee, having placed the adversaries at a distance of 9 meters 15 (appr. 10 yds.) from the ball, blows for the kick.

Before the kick

Before the actual kick, an adversary approaches the ball and the referee applies the advantage rule.

The ball crosses the goal line outside the goal posts.

The kick has to be taken again, in conformance with the interpretation of "penalty", for a fault on the part of the defending team.

But if the ball enters the net, the goal is valid.

In conclusion, the advantage rule is revocable when it is applied to free kicks (including penalty kicks) and it is irrevocable for other phases of the game.

Be that as it may, the advantage rule should be applied even to rough play, but the referee must return to impose disciplinary punishment on the player at fault (warning or expulsion) at the first break in play.

Who paid for this tour?

Further to our reference of last week regarding the activities of the New South Wales Soccer Association Limited.

In August, a New Zealand Under 18 soccer team from Wellington colleges played in Sydney and Newcastle and by all accounts the tour was arranged by the New South Wales Soccer Association Ltd.

In Sydney, the New Zealand lads played a side drawn from the Eastern Suburbs Association which was billed "The Metropolis".

The Eastern Suburbs Association is not affiliated with the New South Wales Junior Association so its juniors are denied the opportunity of playing representative football against other Sydney Associations.

The New Zealand party travelled to Newcastle area where they played Lake Maquarie.

Manager Ward of the New Zealand team spoke highly of the hospitality afforded his team in that area.

What a pity the Dominion visitors were denied the chance of playing against Sydney's best Under 18 players instead of the opposition provided.

Incidently, Eastern Suburbs do not conduct an Under 18 competition.

A question that will need to be answered at the next general meeting of the NSW Soccer Club is, who paid the bill for the New Zealand party, which stayed at the Sydney YMCA?

Who paid the fares and expenses of the visitors?

If it was the Soccer Club, then how could the club claim it could not find the money for their own New South Wales Junior Association trophies.

We will be only too happy to print the Soccer Club's reply to these questions.

Can anyone better this?

Sixteen different nationalities have been represented in Penrith club teams in the last 12 months.

The following countries have been represented:

England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Ukraina, Germany, New Zealand, Holland, Malta, Cyprus, Burma, Norway, Italy, and Australia.

Penrith asks is there any club in Sydney which can better this record?

Lane Cove Juniors' outstanding season

Lane Cove had an outstanding season in the Northern Suburbs Association.

The club, which is sponsored by North Side United, won five competitions.

It won the A grade premiership undefeated, the A grade knockout cup, the Under 14 premiership undefeated, the Under 14 knock-out cup, and the Under 12 knock-out cup.

The club established four Association records during the season.

The A grade team was the first ever in its section to go through the season undefeated, without losing any points.

George Dingwall scored 63 goals for the season and became the highest A grade scorer in the Association.

The Under 14 team established a goal-scoring record for all grades in scoring 161 goals for and 6 goals against in the premiership, and 36 goals for and 3 against in the knock-out cup.

Under 12 grade player Ken Finney became the highest individual goal scorer in all grades in scoring 93 goals in the premiership and knock-out competitions.

The junior committee led by Mr Doug. Vicary (President) worked hard throughout the season to raise the standard of soccer in the district.

Special mention must be made of Mr George Dingwall for his coaching, especially with the Under 12 and Under 10 boys.
